

EXHIBITOR PROSPECTUS

October 2-4, 2015

St Luke's International University - Tokyo, Japan

St Luke's International University, the FDA's Center for Devices & Radiological Health (CDRH), and the Society for Technology in Anesthesia are pleased to announce the International Symposium of Innovations & Applications of Monitoring Oxygenation & Ventilation (IAMPOV).

The goal of this meeting is to explore new developments in oxygenation and ventilation monitoring technologies and clinical applications. The international roster of speakers is an assembly of world renowned scientists and clinicians in the fields of engineering, physics, and medicine. Articles and abstracts generated from this symposium will be published in an upcoming supplement of the journal Anesthesia & Analgesia.

Further details about the Symposium are available at www.iampov.org

IAMPOV 2015 follows the previously held symposiums; 2012 at Yale University, 2007 at Duke University, and 2002 held in Lübeck, Germany. These meetings have traditionally attracted 150 participants. We anticipate the upcoming symposium will have an attendance of 150 medical professionals, engineers and device developers.

MEETING FORMAT

The 2015 planning committee has sought internationally known speakers to present topics relevant to the monitoring of oxygenation and ventilation. The format of the program will include plenary lectures, scientific poster presentations and opportunity for vendor participation through scientific exhibits. The ultimate goal is to establish an environment leading to greater collaboration between academics, clinicians and industry.
